About me

hello , I am happy 😉 you have finally reached on this page ,if you don`t know me take this time and read my story!

I am RUKUNDO janvier software developer , I wrote my first line of code Back in 2015 during my high school class , if you are also developer you can imagine it (hello word) 😁 ,
From then i fell in love with code and started to work on different projects as well as level up my skills with a help of different site such as scrimba ,w3schools , coursera ,freecodecamp....
In 2019 i joined Andela Technical Leadership program.
Apart from web developer I am university student pursuing bachelors in information technology and currently am doing some proffessional training in data analytics.

let put aside carreer and talk about interesting part 🚀 Hobby!
i am diehard fan of liverpool fc ⚽, in my free time you will find me watching either match or movie , i am also fitness enthusiast.
